

Yoakum Dunes WMA

Yoakum Dunes Wildlife Management Area is a 13,866-Acre Wildlife Management Area in Cochran, Terry and Yoakum Counties near Lubbock. It was acquired in 2014 as a refuge for the threatened lesser prairie chicken and other native grassland birds and wildlife. Besides the prairie-chicken, the WMA also provide important habitat for a wide range of indigenous wildlife, including Texas horned lizards, quail and mule deer.

This WMA is NOT currently open to the general public. Drawn Hunters will be contacted prior to their hunt by area staff. In coming years the agency plans to offer public recreational use of the WMA, including birding and other compatible recreation. For more information, contact Yoakum Dunes WMA staff at 806/598-2562.
